IEM Commemorative Journal on

Engineering: The Pathway to Building Resilience to Climate Change in SIDS

Paper Guidelines

Papers should be relevant to the above theme, and therefore highlight the need for contribution of engineers to development in all the relevant domains. It should also highlight what's to come in future.

For a successful and productive Journal, all contributors should adhere to the following guidelines:

Abstracts & Papers

- Abstracts of 300-400 words including information regarding the background and objectives of the study, approach and methodology, major findings of the research work, conclusion and significance together with Brief cv and photo of author must be sent in by 18th July 2022. Final written Papers must maximum 4,500 words for the Journal, (4-6 pages) including illustrations and to be submitted by 17th August 2022.
- Font to be used is Times New Roman 12pt, single spacing. All margins must be one inch on all sides for the body of the paper.
- Multi authors per paper will be accepted with a brief of each author's share of contribution & declare Competing Interests.
- All papers must be submitted as Microsoft Word docs. Papers in PDF may not be accepted.
- Do not include page numbers and a running head to allow the editors to combine all papers into one unified proceedings document.
- Use footnotes and endnotes sparingly, if at all. This helps the editors to combine all papers into a unified proceedings document and have the references correct for each paper.
- Figures will be reproduced exactly as supplied, with no redrawing. It is therefore imperative that the supplied figures are of the highest possible quality.
- Abstracts/Papers will go through a review process by the Journal's Reviewers Committee
- The Reviewers' Team will screen all papers to ensure amendments have been made where necessary, after the review process.
- Only selected papers will be published in electronic format in the Biannual IEM Commemorative Journal which will be released on 13th September 2022.
- The IEM reserves the right to publish the papers.
